ENQUIRY INTO SINGAPORE CLASH

Singapore, Feb. 16.
An enquiry into the clash between the Singapore Police and Chinese near the Bras Basah Road was already taking place this afternoon on urgent orders from the Headquarters of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Supreme Allied Commander in Southeast Asia.

Right Of Pub To Refuse A Customer

It is expected that the purpose of such a visit by two Ministers—who it is suggested may be accompanied by a third important person—is that of consultation with the Viceroy, Lord Wavell, and various Indian Nationalist leaders on the setting up of a constituent assembly to draw up a new constitution for India.

The Ministers and leaders together will no doubt discuss other steps which are preliminary to the realisation of self-government for India, which the British Labour Government is most anxious to speed up.

By April, the new political position, following the provincial elections now proceeding, will be known.

The All-Party Delegation was invited to meet the Prime Minister within a few hours of its arrival back in London and its members are understood to have painted a very realistic picture of the urgency of the political situation in India as it appeared to them. —Reuter

RUSSIA'S DEMANDS

Chungking, Feb. 16.

Russia has demanded 100 per cent. Chinese-Soviet economic co-operation in Manchuria, according to to-day's Catholic "Xi Shih Pao."

Other demands reported by the newspaper included Soviet control of communications, creation of a "safety corridor" from Port Arthur to Russia, and the right of Soviet nationals to reside and purchase real estate in the north-east.

It is stated that the Central Government has not yet made an

New Guinea Discontent Story

Sydney, Feb. 16.

The Air Minister, Mr. Arthur Drakeford, to-day denied that the Royal Australian Air Force met at Madang, New Guinea, were on the point of mutiny, as was reported in several Australian newspapers.

He said an official report shows that the "newspaper accounts" were exaggerated and distorted.

There is clear evidence that many R.A.A.F. personnel at Madang resented the irresponsible acts of a few discontented men, said the Minister.—Associated Press.

The world is a much shinier place than it used to be and we are all members one of another in a way we never were before. Besides, a new invention has given a new meaning to the word 'happy'.

"We do not yet know the power for good or evil which atomic energy has placed in human hands but this much is certain: it has made more urgent than ever before an understanding by the common people of those international problems which, throughout all the history have followed from the shoit comings of the human race. And so the machinery of peace and war must also be understood."

DESTRUCTION SCANDAL ALLEGED

Washington, Feb. 1.

The House Expenditures Committee yesterday heard assertions from Representatives Whitton, Democrat of Mississippi; Goss, Democrat of Texas; and surplus in great quantities were being junked by the Army and Navy at Pacific Island bases.

Major-General Glen Edgerly, Vice-Chief of the War Assets Corporation, immediately asserted that in such instances had been called to his attention.

"That is just the trouble," Whitton responded. "You aren't doing your job. Congressmen are informing you of the situation and you aren't demanding that the Army and Navy make these goods available to the sumner."

Edgerly asserted the Army and Navy declared that the goods were in all quantities "as stored," and "I think they have been careful."

Whitton again disclosed seeing the Army and Navy "hoarding surplus or destroying in many instances." Associated Press.

Tension in Hanoi

Press Correspondents' reports from Hanoi, the old administrative capital of Indo-China, give indication that the situation there has deteriorated rapidly during the past three months, and terrorist activities by Annamites, troops have reached a stage where the lives of Europeans are seriously threatened. It was under an agreement reached at the Potsdam Conference that the Chinese Authorities were made responsible for the re-occupation of Hanoi, and the French Government arranged to pay 65 million piastres to maintain the army of occupation. The task of the occupation forces was purely straightforward—that of disarming the 35,000 Japanese troops, and the preservation of law and order pending the arrival of French troops. Reports state that considerable Japanese forces still roam freely around the city, they have not been completely disarmed, and in many instances insults have been thrown at French officials. In comparison with the troops of a defeated enemy, French troops are forbidden to carry arms, but are nominally under the protection of the Chinese.

A Violent Press

The local Chinese Press is daily making charges against the French in Cholon, Saigon, stating that they are maltreating the Chinese citizens. The whole tone of the editorials is violently anti-French. To add complications to the situation a bitter conflict exists between the Viet Minh, the party in power, and the Conservative Dong Minh; and mass starvation threatens due to the rice shortage in Tonkin China. Relations between the French and the Chinese first became strained on November 17 last year when the French, without giving notice, recalled all 500 piastre notes issued on the Bank of Indo-China. The reason for notes of this value being chosen was because most of them were held by black-market dealers. The action caused chaos in all sections of the community. The Chinese, especially shopkeepers, were severely hit, the Annamites suffered heavy financial losses, and many French, too, were virtually ruined.

A Matter for U.N.O?

From that time forward, tension prevailed between the French and the Chinese, giving the revolutionary Annamites opportunity to create a reign of terror against the European populace. Almost daily a Frenchman was either murdered or seriously wounded by attacks. These attacks culminated in the assassination of M. Jean Baylin, Director of the Bank of Indo-China. After this dastardly act the Chinese Authorities took measures to bring the reign of terror to an end and a period of calm ensued. However, such a state of unrest as exists at present, in a world on the threshold of peace, is dangerous. The French will eventually take over Hanoi, but the great fear is that Chinese troops will withdraw before the French troops arrive, and the Annamites will have a free hand to break out in terrorist activities. Reliable sources report that the Hanoi question may be brought to the notice of the United Nations Organisation.

A Universal Pledge

At the last session of the present series, the General Assembly of the United Nations made a solemn universal pledge to use all its power to stem the food crisis which threatens to envelop the entire globe. It was decided to call on all Governments to take immediate measures in the conservation of food, and to do their utmost to increase production. All international organization

(U.N.R.R.A. and the like) are to prepare a wide picture of the world's food situation. Speakers of all countries reiterated the warning that only by a common effort by all nations could civilization be saved from a dreadful famine.

India's Plight

In one of the most awe-inspiring speeches yet heard before the Assembly, the Indian delegate, Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, gave a grim outline of the difficulties facing his country. Sir Ramaswami pointed out that during the past months adverse elements, cyclones, storms and drought, had wrecked whatever hope India had of being self-supporting. Recalling the ghastly famine of 1942-43, Sir Ramaswami said that no less than 1½ million people died of starvation. In a world which is struggling for economic revival, such a calamity must not happen again. Here is an opportunity for the United Nations to carry through the most humanitarian act ever performed for mankind: to make the basic fundamental of the four freedoms, freedom from want, a pulsating reality.

Belgian Elections

Belgium has been in a state of electoral tension and a second poll is expected at the beginning of the year. Rushed into a campaign by an announcement from M. Van Acker, the Socialist Prime Minister, that the elections would take place at least one month earlier than had been forecast, all parties have been feverishly adopting candidates and voicing their programmes in true electoral style, through leading representatives. The Socialists, who hold the majority in the present Government, have based their campaign on seemingly very strong arguments. They claim that the whole responsibility for the present stable position of Belgium politics is due to their own influence in Governmental departments. Further, that Belgium has recovered from the effects of the German occupation more quickly than any other European country, and that the serious political crises which have loomed since the liberation have been avoided by skilful foresight. In the economic sphere they promise a revival of the export trade, and "the transfer to collective economy" of all great monopolies controlled by private enterprise—coal-mining, insurance, public services, etc.

A Communist Threat

The greatest threat to a Socialist majority is the Communist Party. Many converts from other factions have joined the Communists, and only if the Socialists succeed in making up the deficiency of these "extra" votes can they remain the premier party. It is expected that if the Socialists do get in they will exclude the Communists completely from power and form a coalition with the Right. The Christian Socialists are the main party in opposition to State control and they have the following of many rich influential Belgians. They also show allegiance to King Leopold. The other two parties—the Liberals, and the new Belgian Democratic Union—will only aggravate the situation by splitting the votes. It is difficult to forecast the trend of the political pendulum, especially as this is the first election since the liberation, but observers believe that the voters (all men, as there is no woman suffrage) will be influenced by the Socialist dictum.

A Windfall

On August 1st the United Nations Organisation will receive assets worth approximately $3,000,000. These are being transferred from the League of Nations Palace at Geneva. Many articles of furniture are among the items to be taken over. Geneva was "fitted out" at a time when "rich rare" furniture was the order of the day, and the quality of manufacture is of a mark suitably high for the austere Assembly which will grace it. Besides the $3,000,000 worth of equipment, a complete library, scores of valuable gifts, including many exquisite works of art, are also being transferred without cost. It is expected that when the Geneva Palace is vacated the International Labour Office will use at least part of the extensive buildings.

TJISADANE BACK IN H.K.

THE SECOND J.C.I.L. LINER TO CALL AT HONG KONG SINCE THE WAR'S END, THE M.S. TJISADANE ARRIVED HERE FROM SAN PEDRO ON FRIDAY TO SIGN ON A NEW CHINESE CREW.

She will be sailing to-day for Java where she is to take on recruits for Holland.

The m.s. Tjisadane served as a troop transport throughout the Pacific War and has carried more than 25,000 troops in all her voyages. She participated in the landings of American troops on Kiska in the Aleutians in August, 1941, and carried troops also to Okinawa.

It was while bound for Okinawa that she was attacked by Japanese bombers on May 11 last year and scored hits on two of the attacking aircraft from her anti-aircraft fire. One of the Japanese planes, a torpedo bomber, hit the deck just in front of the bridge, burst into flames and veered off the deck into the sea, leaving one of her winches behind.

There were four casualties on board, two of the American gunners and two of the lascars crew being killed. The planes accounted for were, in the parlance of the deck-ack crew, a "Jill" and a "Betty".

The skipper of the "Tjisadane" is Capt. J. Naebecht, who has been in the C. in Const since 1917. He was in command of the "Hilgema" when she was torpedoed and lost outside Noumea, New Caledonia, on the night of July 25, 1942. No lives were lost. The crew was picked up by an American destroyer.

Chief Officer of the "Tjisadane" is Mr. W. J. Vulek and the Chief Engineer, Mr. L. Corthals.

Hong Kong War Crimes: More Evidence Invited

IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE RE-OCCUPATION OF THE COLONY, JAPANESE OF THE GENDARMERIE AND THE STAFFS OF THE P.O.W. AND CIVILIAN INTERNMENT CAMPS WERE PLACED IN STANLEY GAOI AS SUSPECTED WAR CRIMINALS. FURTHER ENQUIRIES HAVE LED TO THE DETENTION OF OTHER JAPANESE SUSPECTED OF HAVING COMMITTED WAR CRIMES.

A VIOLATION OF LAWS AND USAGES OF WAR AS AGREED AT VARIOUS CONFERENCES AND CONVENTIONS FROM 1868 ONWARDS CONSTITUTES A WAR CRIME AND SUCH OFFENCES WILL BE DEALT WITH BY MILITARY COURT, AND IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT JAPANESE WHO COMMITTED OFFENCES HERE IN HONG KONG WILL BE TRIED HERE.

At present numerous cases are in preparation against the persons detained in Stanley Gaoi. Unavoidable delay in obtaining evidence to support these cases has meant that cases against these suspected war criminals will be subject to further delay to enable witnesses who have been repatriated to the U.K., Canada, Australia and elsewhere.

Among the leading war criminals detained here are Col. Noma, who was brought back from Tokyo to stand trial for the many atrocities committed by Japanese Gendarmes under his command in Hong Kong between January, 1942 and his departure in February, 1945. Lt. Col. Kanazawa Asao, seen in command at Head Noma and his successor as Head of the Gendarmes from February, 1945 until the surrender of Japan, will face charges similar to those of Col. Noma. Upon him also rests the responsibility for the death of an American airman shot down over Hong Kong.

The crimes committed by the Camp Staffs are legion and among those held to answer for these crimes are Col. Tekunaka the senior officer in charge; Capt. Saito, the medical officer who reportedly withheld drugs from P.O.W.s and internees and thereby caused many deaths; Interpreter Shimori who was responsible for several torturous prisoners; Lt. Tanaka Hiroshi, who was at one time in charge of Arvise Street Camp; Capt. Yamaguchi Kyoichi, Superintendent of Stanley Gaoi, was present at the Bloody Assizes of October, 1943, and who permitted brutal torture in the Gaoi.

Lt. Col. Kori Kazuo of the Judicial Staff of the Governor's Department and who was apprehended by the Military Authorities in Canton and transferred to Hong Kong, was responsible for the execution of persons for comparatively minor crimes. Sixteen Japanese troops are awaiting trial for the torturing and killing of civilians on Lantau Island in August, 1945. Among the many crimes committed by Japanese soldiers under arrest is Warant Officer Yabuki Rikio who is known to have tortured many civilians.

PHOTOGRAPHS DISPLAY

It is known that many people suffered at the hands of the Gendarmes and other Japanese at various times and that these people did not know the names of their persecutors. In the hope that no criminal shall escape his just deserts photographs will be displayed of suspected war criminals.

One display will be made at the Star Ferry in Kowloon and one by the kind permission of the Hong Kong & China Gas Company in their showroom in Gloucester Building on Des Voeux Road. Any person having knowledge of atrocities committed by Japanese whom they can recognise should contact an officer of the War Crimes Investigation Team.

The Team have offices on the top floor of "D" Block of Victoria Barracks (Telephone No. 34121 Ext. 60 or 71). However, for the convenience of the general public a subsidiary office has been opened at Room 302, third floor at the Hong Kong & Shanghai Bank Building where an officer will be on duty to interview all witnesses. Telephone 34045.

A small fire broke out at about 2.30 a.m. yesterday at No. 5, Jaffe Road, third floor, but it was put out by an appliance from Eastern Station before serious damage was done.

FISHERMAN ACQUITTED

Wong Tai-yau, 19, fisherman, was discharged by Mr. C. Y. Kwan at the Summary Military Court yesterday when he was found not guilty on a charge of exporting three bags of rice at Shaukiwan harbour on Feb. 10.

Accused said that the rice was bought and placed on his boat for his own consumption and he had no intention of exporting it.

Mr. F. X. d'Almada prosecuted.

Keitel Blamed For Shocking Crimes

NUERNBERG, FEB. 16.

FIELD MARSHAL VON KEITEL'S ORDER BANNING THE PUNISHMENT OF NAZIS WHO VIOLATED SOVIET WOMEN AND CHILDREN WAS A SIGNAL THAT SET OFF THE SYSTEMATIC POISONING OF ALL SCHOOL-CHILDREN IN THE CITY OF KERCH, DOCUMENTS SUBMITTED BY THE RUSSIAN PROSECUTION TO THE WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL ON FRIDAY ASSERTED.

AFTER THEY ARRIVED AT SCHOOL, "250 CHILDREN, WITH SCHOOL-BOOKS UNDER THEIR ARMS, WERE SENT OUT OF TOWN TO A FACTORY SCHOOL ALLEGEDLY FOR A WALK."

"There the hungry and cold children were offered hot coffee and cakes which were poisoned. Those children who did not get coffee, the German orderly called to the dispensary where he smeared their lips with quick-acting poison."

Keitel sat impassively as the grisly details of the killing of these children were read into the record.

The prosecutor next dealt a damaging blow at Alfred Rosenberg, whose legislative powers in Estonia were the tools with which an indescribable reign of terror became "legal."

Rosenberg created courts whose only sentence was death and confiscation of property. All civilians who defied the curfew or set foot on certain restricted roads were automatically shot. Following the pattern set in all other countries

Accused was discharged because of lack of evidence.
